Customer: "Where is the owner of this restaurant?"
Waiter: "He's out to lunch, sir."

"Doctor, was my operation a success?"
"Who's a doctor? I'm St. Peter."

The only person who listens to both sides of a family argument is the woman in the next apartment.

"Come in--- come in---" beamed the gushy hostess. She hadn't noticed the soft mud clinging to the embarrassed guest's shoes.
"Oh, no, I really shouldn't," replied the guest glancing down at his shoes.
"My feet are dirty."
"Well, that's all right. Keep your shoes on and nobody'll notice them!"

A meek little man was told by his psychiatrist that he could shed his inferiority complex by asserting himself. The little man rushed home, threw his coat on the chair, barked the following orders to his wife: "Make me a martini and a steak dinner, and lay out my tuxedo because I've got a date tonight. And you know who's going to tie my bow tie, don't you?"
"Sure do," said his wife, "Williams Funeral Parlor."

Soaking a wedding ring in dish water three times a day makes it last longer.

Wife: "That couple next door seem very devoted. He kisses her every time they meet. Why don't you do that?"
Hubby: "I don't know her well enough yet."

Father (to waitress): "Wrap up the rest of the steak for the dog."
Small Son: "Oh, goody. We're going to get a dog."

After his diagnosis of the boy, the doctor said, "I'm not sure what ails this child, but I'll tell you what I'm gonna do. I'm gonna slip him some pills that will throw him into a fit. I'm hell on fits."

The golfer, a prominent minister, was having a terrible day on the links. When he wasn't slicing, he was hooking. Finally, on the 13th hole, he flubbed an easy two foot putt. He picked up the ball, threw it as far as he could, cracked a club over his knee and sank to the green, a picture of frustration. "I've got to give it up," he moaned, "I've got to give it up."
"Give up golf?" his partner asked.
"No, the ministry," said the golfer.

"God knows how Smith made his money!"
"He does? No wonder Smith looks worried!"

The person who says he can live on garlic and limburger cheese alone would probably have to.

A small boy was leading a donkey by a rope past an army camp.
A soldier, lounging at the entrance asked: "Why are you holding your brother so tightly by that rope?"
Said the boy: "So he won't join the army."

"You were a good little boy not to throw your apple core on the floor of the bus. Where did you put it?"

"In the pocket of the man sitting next to me."

"What time is it by your watch?"
"Ten to."
"Ten to what?"
"Don't know -- times are so tough that I had to lay off one of the hands."

Some hospitals should also have a recovery room adjoining the cashier's office.

Don't always give your wife credit; she appreciates a little cash, too.

A race track is a place where windows clean people.

Friends are made by many acts and can be lost by just one.
